

MODERN FARMHOUSE, YORKSHIRE
LINDAB BUILDING PRODUCTS LIMITED

Simon and Fran Ackerley set out to design a traditional farmhouse with a modern twist as a family home for themselves, their three sons and possibly even generations to come on their 200 acre farm in the stunning rural location at Kilwick Percy, near Pocklington in Yorkshire.

The couple were already long standing friend with the main designer and contractor Anderson York Ltd. and this relationship led them to make some exciting material choices; including premium penrhyn heather blue Welsh natural roofing slates and a contemporary galvanised steel gutter system which were provided by Burton Roofing Merchants of York.

The merchants remarked that the Lindab rainwater system “makes a striking statement but ultimately benefits very low maintenance”.

Owner, Simon commented that in designing the farmhouse the long term view has ruled in most instances as they did not want any regrets. The finished project is a real pleasure to see and has had a lot of press coverage.

For more information see www.lindab.co.uk/rainline

www.lindab.co.uk