Marley Alutec, leading manufacturer of aluminium rainwater, fascia, soffit and coping solutions, has recently secured a new Scottish stockist and federation membership to strengthen its support of the region's installers and roofing contractors by increasing product awareness and availability.

Marley Alutec products will now be stocked by John Cameron (Plumbers and Builders Merchants) Ltd, a well-recognised independent merchant business in Glasgow. Specifically, Cameron's will be stocking the Alutec Evolve Half Round and Evolve Deepflow aluminium guttering systems, as well as the Evolve 63mm and Tudor 63mm downpipe systems, all of which are popular amongst the merchant's client base.

“We receive a lot of interest in the Marley Alutec Evolve system due to its simple bolt free, clip together installation,” commented Managing Director, John Cameron. “We believe that stocking the Evolve system will add value to our product offering and we are looking forward to working with Alutec to promote the range in the future.”

Already an associate member of the Scottish Federation of Housing Associations (SFHA), Alutec has also recently become an associate member of the Scottish and Northern Ireland Plumbing Employers’ Federation (SNIPEF). Alutec will be involved in many of SNIPEF’s regular events, either through sponsorship or attendance, to promote its product offering and liaise with local installers.

Drummond Mckenzie, Marley Alutec’s Area Sales Manager for Scotland, commented: “We are delighted that Cameron’s has become an Alutec stockist as it is a notable, recognised brand in Scotland and it has provided a lot of support to Alutec in the past – it is great to now be in partnership. We are also looking forward to attending future SNIPEF events to meet and support new and existing Marley Alutec customers.”
