Marley Alutec, the UK's leading manufacturer of aluminium guttering, rainwater drainage and eaves solutions, has added a new member to its team of Area Sales Managers by appointing Steve Catterick to cover South Wales and South West England.

Steve has joined Marley Alutec with five years' experience in the merchant sector, three years of which was working for Wolseley as a Key Account Manager. Since 2015, Steve has fulfilled the role of an Area Sales Manager for both Durapipe UK and, most recently, Pegler Yorkshire.

In his new role, Steve will be utilising his wealth of merchant sector and specification sales experience to maintain relationships with existing customers and drive new business in his area.

“Due to Marley Alutec and Durapipe UK both being part of Aliaxis group, I was already familiar with the team and the service Marley Alutec provides,” commented Steve.

“Combined with my previous Area Sales Manager experience, the new position felt like a perfect fit.

“Southern Wales and the South West of England are predominantly coastal areas meaning clients are looking for a high-quality, long-lasting solution that will resist the elements. Marley Alutec’s marine grade aluminium products fit the bill and I am looking forward to engaging with these clients, as well as architects and specifiers on-site, to deliver the desired solution in every circumstance.”
